Mr. Orr said this morning: "It would not be proper for me to express myself at any length until I have met my colleagues. There will be necessarily a great deal of preliminary work. The former commission has smoothed the way in some instances, and has done way in some instances, and has done work that will not have to be done over.

"I think the people of New York are to be congratulated on the opportunity offered them by the referendum clause to have a voice in the matter. Until the vote is taken, probably this Fall, the new Commission cannot adopt any definite plans."

Commission cannot adopt any definite plans."

John Claffin, when asked if he could enlighten the public as to the future plans of the new Commission and when the first meeting would be called, said:

"Those are matters that it would not be becoming for me to discuss at present. As to the date of the first meeting, we are just now all at sea. The question of upon whom devolves the duty of calling the first meeting is to be decided first."

Mayor Gilroy, as the first member named in the bill, seemed to Mr. Claffin to be the proper person to call the meeting.

"You may say, however," concluded

"You may say, however," concluded Mr. Claffin, "that I don't agree with Mr. Gliroy in his views expressed to the morning newspaper sepresentatives. Mayor Gliroy was evidently in a very modest and amiable frame of mind when asked who would call the first meeting of the new Commission.

is practically a Chamber of Commerce Commission.

The fact that Alexander E, Orr was named, as well as the President of the Chamber of Commerce Board, gives him a double claim to the office. There is little doubt that Mr. Orr will resign as an individual member of the new Commission, but this will still make him an ex-officio member by virtue of his Presidency of the Chamber of Commerce.

This step on the part of Mr. Orr will leave a vacancy in the Board, which will undoubtedly be filled by Charles Stewart Smith, the retiring President of the Chamber. This will give the Chamber of Commerce a majority over the Tammany representatives of 6 to 2.

Comptroiler Fitch, who is a member of the Rapid Transit Commission, said today: "I have not given the question of the constitutionality of the bill any consideration. The suggestions of the Mayor in this direction ought to have careful consideration, and the question will doubtless be passed upon by the courts.

"It seems to me tog early to make pre-

"The one great need of the City of New York is rapid transit. It is far more important than any city question. The delays in rapid transit have been most exasperating to the general public, and I find this morning among the men whom I meet a general expression of satisfaction that some effort is to be made to reach a result."

Corporation Counsel Clark would not express an opinion, as he may be called upon to give an opinion officially as to the constitutionality of the bill.

From other sources it was learned that the place of the first meeting would be the Chamber of Commerce. The first steep will be to bring about a temporary organization. One member will then be appointed to secure perwill then be appointed to secure permanent quarters, and the first business meeting will be held there.

There is much satisfaction expressed to-day at the fact that the new body is practically a Chamber of Commerce Commission.

The corrected figures of the division in the Chamber of the Day pire and simple, on the question as to whether the Minister of Public Works had authority to allow the employees of the State railroads to attend the Congress of the Railway Workingmen's Federation, show that the Premier's demand was defeated by a vote of 25 to 217, instead of 275 to 225, as at first announced.
